Background

Some state Medicaid policies explicitly include best-practice, medically necessary health care for transgender people, whereas other state policies explicitly exclude such care. Still other states have no explicit policy either way. Importantly, even in states with no explicit policy or mention of coverage, transgender people may still be able to access gender-affirming coverage or benefits. However, when states have no explicit policy, transgender people are more likely to report obstacles to receiving care, including being denied needed care.

Scoring options:

- (1) State Medicaid policy explicitly covers transgender-related health care
- (0) State Medicaid has unclear or no explicit policy regarding coverage of transgender-related health care
- (-0.5) State Medicaid policy explicitly excludes coverage of transgender-related health care for minors
- (-1) State Medicaid policy explicitly excludes coverage of transgender-related health care for all ages

- Formerly (prior to 2022 rule), state Medicaid had no explicit policy regarding coverage of transgender-related health care (0)

Georgia

- (1) State Medicaid policy explicitly covers transgender-related health care
- Formerly, state explicitly excluded coverage of transgender-related health care for all ages (-1). See State Plan (p1c; since 1992). Overturned in 2022 by Thomas et al v. Georgia Department of Community Health, and see more coverage of case outcome here.

Hawai`i

- (0) State Medicaid policy is unclear regarding coverage of transgender-related health care
- HB2084 (2016) bans gender identity discrimination in health insurance and HB2405 (2022) bans categorical exclusions for gender-affirming care under any health plan, though the law does not specifically name the state's Medicaid program. However, state regulations (HCR § 17-1737-84\(22\)\(A\); see also Provider Manual Ch 6 p42) explicitly exclude "sex transformation treatments" and related services. In the absence of explicit guidance from the state about the apparent conflict between these policies, the ability of Hawaiians to access gender-affirming care through the state's Medicaid program is uncertain.

Idaho

- (-1) State Medicaid policy explicitly excludes coverage of transgender-related health care for all ages
- See HB668 (2024; effective July 1, 2024)
- Formerly, state Medicaid had no explicit policy regarding coverage of transgender-related health care. However, a 2022 lawsuit filed against the state shows that at least some transgender people have been denied Medicaid coverage of this health care. See MH & TB v. Jeppesen et al (Sept 2022). But the state policy and documents contained no explicit mention of an official policy regarding transgender-related health care (until 2024's HB668).

Illinois

- (1) State Medicaid policy explicitly covers transgender-related health care
- See IDHFS announcement (2019).

Indiana

- (0) State Medicaid has no explicit policy regarding coverage of transgender-related health care

Iowa

- (1) State Medicaid policy explicitly covers transgender-related health care
- In March 2019, the Iowa Supreme Court ruled that the state's previous exclusion of transgender health coverage (see 441 IAC 78.1\(249A\)) violated the state's civil rights law, and therefore was illegal. The decision found that gender-affirming health care is medically necessary and therefore may not be excluded. However, in May 2019, the Iowa governor signed a law (HF 766) that allows Medicaid and other state-funded health care providers to choose not to cover transgender-related care. In November 2021, an Iowa District Court ruled that denying Medicaid coverage for transition-related care violates the state's law and constitution, and ordering the state's Department of Human Services to provide coverage when medically necessary.

Kansas

- (-0.5) State Medicaid policy explicitly excludes* coverage of transgender-related health care for minors
- See SB63 (2025), banning best-practice medical care for transgender youth, prohibiting Medicaid coverage and reimbursement of care for transgender youth, and more.

Louisiana

- (0) State Medicaid has no explicit policy regarding coverage of transgender-related health care
- However, the Transgender Legal Defense & Education Fund \(TLDEF\) reports that while there is no official state policy on transgender-related care in Louisiana Medicaid, the individual insurance organizations operating under Louisiana Medicaid each have inclusive policies for covering transgender-related care.

Maine

- (1) State Medicaid policy explicitly covers transgender-related health care
- State policy formerly explicitly excluded transgender health coverage and care, but a June 2019 emergency ruling from the state's Department of Health and Human Services eliminated this exclusion. By September 2019, the state's Benefits Manual explicitly included transgender related care.

North Carolina

- (0) State Medicaid policy is unclear regarding coverage of transgender-related health care
- In April 2024, the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals found the state's exclusion in its state plan unconstitutional. However, the decision is being appealed and the case is still ongoing.
- However, See H808/S639 (Aug 2023), banning best-practice medical care for transgender youth and prohibiting state funds (i.e., Medicaid) from going toward best-practice care for transgender youth. Prior to H808 (2023), state had no explicit Medicaid policy regarding coverage of transgender-related health care.

- Previously, state had no explicit policy (0)

Ohio

- (-1) State Medicaid policy explicitly excludes coverage of transgender-related health care for all ages
 - As of 2019, multiple news outlets including The Washington Post and Bloomberg News reported that state officials are not enforcing this exclusion. However, in 2024, HB68 was enacted, explicitly banning coverage of transgender care for minors.
- See OH OAC 5160-2-03 (2017; since 2015), though note this appears to apply only to hospital services, and so non-hospital service providers may still be able to provide covered care. See also HB68 (2024), explicitly banning coverage of transgender-related care for minors.

Oklahoma

- (0) State Medicaid has no explicit policy regarding coverage of transgender-related health care

Oregon

- (1) State Medicaid policy explicitly covers transgender-related health care
- See OHP Handbook (since 2014, effective 2015).

- See Physicians Services Provider Manual (2023) (beginning May 1, 2022; p158), and HB4624 (2024)
- However, South Carolina is part of the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, and in April 2024, the 4th Circuit found North Carolina and West Virginia's exclusions in their state plans unconstitutional. That decision is being appealed and the case is still ongoing, but it remains an important precedent against such bans, including in South Carolina and potentially across the country.
- Previously, state had no explicit policy (0). See Provider Manuals in 2020 (p160-168), 2021 (p157-164), and as late as April 2022 (p157-164) with no such exclusions, though there were generic exclusions referenced under "general surgery guidelines" and "cosmetic procedures."

- Formerly, state Medicaid policy explicitly excluded transgender health coverage and care (-1). See West Virginia Medicaid Provider Manual, Ch 100, Section 161 (since at least 2005). This was overturned in August 2022 by Fain v. Crouch, but in September 2022 the state appealed the decision. In April 2024, the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the lower court's ruling and found the state's exclusion unconstitutional. However, the state is again appealing, and the case is still ongoing. The state has also not updated its provider manual, so the exclusion is still in writing.

Wisconsin

- (1) State Medicaid policy explicitly covers transgender-related health care
- Formerly, state explicitly excluded coverage for all ages (-1) as early as 1996 (see DHS 107.03) and until a 2019 ruling (Flack v. Wisconsin Department of Health) overturning the exclusions and requiring the state to publish a coverage policy for these services.
